

Isaac Nathaniel Brown Barn

This barn was built by Isaac Nathaniel Brown and his father, George Washington Brown, close to the turn of the century. It was likely built from native white pine. Isaac and his first wife, Eliza Rocksina Murdock Brown also had a two-room log home, to the south of the barn. This home had a sleeping loft for 2 or 3 beds, also. They had 10 children, the last of whom was John Alma Brown. Eliza, the mother of this large family became feeble and desperately ill, then died.

Later, Isaac was married a second time to Annie Nelson, who was from the family that ran the Murray Laundry, in Salt Lake City. She kept the place, after Isaac died, and finally the last child by the first marriage, John Alma Brown, obtained possession of the barn and remaining farm; after part of the original farm had been given to several family members. It was then sold to Max Carlson and from him, it went to his son, Vern Carlson. After these many years, it now (Mar 1998) is being torn down by Vern. Address of this barn is about 2955 W 2400 So in Charleston.
